The Funds are actively managed by DJE and, where a benchmark index is indicated, without reference to it. The presented charts and tables concerning performance are based on our own calculations according to the gross performance (BVI) method<sup>2</sup> and illustrate past development. Past performance is not indicative for future returns. The BVI method takes into account all costs incurred at the fund level (e.g. management fees), the net performance and the issue fee. Additional individual costs may be incurred at the customer level (e.g. custodian fees, commission and other charges). Model calculation (net): an investor wishes to purchase shares for Euro 1,000. With a maximum issue surcharge of 0.00%, he has to spend a one-off amount of Euro 0.00 when making the purchase. In addition, there may be custodian costs that reduce performance. The custodian costs are decided by your bank's price list and service charges

Investment Approach

In the face of climate change, 195 countries are pursuing the goal of limiting global warming to "well below" two degrees Celsius compared to the pre-industrial era, according to the Paris Climate Change Agreement of 2015. International and national efforts - in Germany, for example, the energy turnaround - to reduce CO<sub>2</sub> emissions are influencing economies around the globe and opening up opportunities in many sectors and thematic areas, such as energy generation through wind and solar power or through green hydrogen, energy storage, the automotive industry (keyword e-mobility), infrastructure, technology, the agricultural sector or chemicals. DJE works with MSCI ESG Research, a leading international provider of environmental, social and governance (ESG) analysis. The investment universe is screened on the basis of these filters. The fund management of DJE - Umwelt & Werte analyses the closer selection qualitatively and invests in what it considers to be the most promising stocks from an ESG point of view. The focus is on companies that have a positive impact on society and the environment. Companies are excluded if their business practices violate the United Nations' guidelines on human and labour rights or environmental protection, if they promote corruption or if they generate more than 5% of their sales through weapons, gambling, nuclear energy, coal from power plants or genetically modified seeds, for example.

Monthly Commentary

The stock markets in Europe and North America performed well in May and were able to largely offset the losses from the previous month. The main driver behind this positive development was once again market expectations that the doves could prevail over the hawks in monetary policy. Weaker labour market data eased concerns that the US economy could overheat. In addition, US inflation fell from 3.5% to 3.4% in April, while core inflation (excluding energy and food) fell from 3.8% to 3.6% - both year-on-year. This rekindled hopes of interest rate cuts by the Fed before the end of the year, especially as the markets have firmly priced in a key interest rate cut by the European Central Bank in June. However, the rally on the stock markets began to stutter around the middle of the month. This was due, among other things, to a rise in inflation in the eurozone from 2.4% to 2.6% and a jump in the Purchasing Managers' Index for the manufacturing sector in the eurozone from 45.7 to 47.3 points. As a result, the markets revised their interest rate expectations. The vast majority of sectors on the global stock market performed positively. The strongest results came from the technology, utilities and insurance sectors. By contrast, the automotive, travel & leisure and energy sectors ended the month of May in the red. The DJE - Umwelt & Werte rose by 1.04% in this market environment.
